

LEGACY
TRAVEL

Congratulations on choosing to have a destination wedding! You and your guests will have a fun and memorable experience that is guaranteed to last a lifetime!

Legacy Travel has put together a timeline/checklist to help you with your planning. Please know that it doesn't absolutely need to be in this order but it is what we suggest to make things as hassle free as possible.

6-12 months prior

-  Start thinking of colors and/or a theme for your big day.
-  Set a rough budget to work with. This budget will need to include your wedding details along with your travel expenses. Budgets can range from $4,000 and up.
-  If you plan on locking in a group rate for you and your guests, please keep in mind that it will be up to you to apply the deposit on those rooms. Resorts usually require a minimum of 10 -20 rooms when reserving group space. Because each guest will likely have unique needs, most brides prefer to allow us to deal with each guest individually rather than try to make everyone conform to specific group dates."
-  Choose your paradise. If you do not have a destination in mind yet, call your favorite Destination Wedding Travel Consultant at Legacy Travel to schedule a time to chat. The agents are very knowledgeable and have been to most of these resorts. They also usually know the wedding teams personally!
-  Decide how the two of you would like to take care of the Marriage Legalities. Some countries make it harder than others to legally get married so be sure and check the requirements. Most venues will allow a symbolic/religious ceremony that does not require as much for those who would rather do the legal portion within the United States before or after the ceremony.
-  During your consultation with your Destination Wedding Travel Consultant, you will receive answers to your questions along with help deciding where the perfect wedding venue will be for you and your guests (if you are still needing that). After discussing preferences, quotes, going through pictures and other important steps, you will want to select a resort or two.
-  Your Destination Wedding Travel Consultant will then help you get in contact with the best on-site wedding team to check times and availability. Once you find a date and time that works, you will need to immediately fill out a form to confirm that it is yours.
-  Get your stay booked! Once the deposit is applied for the bride and groom's travel, Legacy Travel will make your very own wedding website to start spreading the word! Be sure and email your Destination Wedding Travel Consultant a picture or two that you would like to be across the top of your site.
-  Start on your guest list and get addresses!
-  Send out Save the Date cards/magnets. Be sure to include your names, date, location and your wedding website link.

- ➔ Be sure and take advantage of the fabulous tri-fold brochures that Legacy Travel sends out complimentary for their bride and grooms.
